David Dwight Dead.

Street Commissioner David Dwight died at his home on Water street this morning from appendicitis, with which he has been afflicted for 20 years. An operation was being performed upon him by Dr McLean, of Detroit, assisted by Drs. Perkins, McCormick, Hume, Arnold and Phippen, but he was so weak as to be unable to stand the operation, which could have undoubtedly been easily performed and without great danger some time ago. Mr. Dwight was well and favorably known in the city and county and his death will be a shock to many friends, who were unaware of his sickness, which is of less than a week's duration. The funeral will be held Sunday afternoon.

Circuit Court.

The attention of the circuit court was occupied all last week with the Wicking & Storrer case against the Citizens Mutual Fire Ins. Co. The jury found a verdict Saturday of $825.49 for the plaintiff. Judge Smith charged the jury that their verdict could not exceed that amount, being the figure settled upon by the three appraisers. It is understood that the case will be appealed to the supreme court.

The case of Wicking & Storrer against the Northern Assurance Co. was reported as settled. Their other cases against the several insurance companies were con tiqued until the next term. .
